VOL. IV. NO. 81.

CHICAGO, TUESDAY, APRIL 5, 1898.

PRICE, 5 CENTS

LOCAL RACING PROSPECTS.

At this early date stable room at the Indiana tracks is none too plentiful. Most of the owners who raced during the winter at New Orleans shipped here, and things begin to look lively about the Lakeside track. The season opens May 5 at Sheffield, and, it is said on good authority, there will be racing in and about Chicago until snow flies.

Secretary Nathanson is busy arranging stakes which will be announced at an early date.

Starter Dick Dwyer is determined not to be bothered with a lot of crazy two-year-olds at the early meeting. Beginning April 15 a starting machine will be erected at Lakeside and Dwyer will school the youngsters daily.

GOSSIP OF THE TURF.

The attractions of the Montana circuit will evidently tell this year. In this connection an exchange says:

"W. H. May's horses, consisting of J. H. C., Joe Clark, Judge Quigley and eleven others, will take in the Montana circuit this year. The acquisition of this string to the Montana forces will be felt. While outside of Judge Quigley there may be no horses of the first-class, the others seem to be able to care of themselves in any country and over any kind of a track. This is true especially of those time-tried campaigners, Joe Clark and his younger brother, J. H. C.

Jockey Jesse Everett is under contract to Mr. May this season. Everett will do all the riding for the stable, and his reinforcement to the jockey ranks will be of some help."

Mr. May will be sure to find his trip both pleasant and profitable and others of the middle-western owners will find it very much to their interest to follow his example. The twenty rich stakes of this circuit now open for entry close April 16 and that is a date so near by that their liberal conditions are now a legitimate subject for careful study by owners of good horses.

Col. W. S. Barnes and Ed Hopper, secretary of the Latonia Jockey Club, will probably be the judges on this circuit. James B. Ferguson will do the starting.

METROPOLITAN RACING.

A special dispatch from Albany gives the details of the State Racing Association of New York. The document, one of sharp significance, is signed by August Belmont, E. D. Morgan and John Sanford, and is brimful of interesting data relating to the progress of horse racing in the state under the present system. The commission points to the gratifying fact that each year shows a distinct advancement over that which preceded it, and that this improvement was particularly noticeable last year. Going into details, the report states:

"The decision of the Court of Appeals rendered during the past year in the case of Charles R. Grannan against the stewards of the Jockey Club and the Westchester Racing Association, referred to at more length elsewhere, forms a fitting end to the series of litigations, all decided in favor of honest practices and of the permanent establishment of racing upon secure and enduring foundations. That decision will enable the Jockey Club to promulgate and enforce, under the supervision of your commission, such reasonable rules and regulations as, in its opinion, are necessary for the maintenance of the sport up to the standard contemplated by the Legislature of 1895 in the enactment of the Racing Code.

"During the year your commission issued licenses to the Westchester Racing Association, the Coney Island Jockey Club, the Brooklyn Jockey Club, the Brighton Beach Racing Association, the Saratoga Racing Association, and the Queen's County Jockey Club to hold race meetings and steeplechase meetings for such period as they requested, within the statutory limitations. The whole number of days raced by the six associations named was 144, one day having been devoted to charity by the Westchester Racing Association, to whose gift was added the contribution by officials of their salaries for the day.

"During the year the racing associations holding licenses from your commission gave in prizes and stakes the sum of $916,080. This sum is $109,564 in advance of that competed for in 1896, and $123,627 in excess of that offered in 1895. The Saratoga Racing Association, which in 1896 did not feel justified in holding a meeting because of conditions almost exclusively local in character, reopened its gates last year and had a successful meeting. Your commission is informed it will give another meeting during the coming season.

"All the other associations named have issued notices of their stake features, and these in many notable instances indicate a conviction on the part of the association that the future is bright in promise. One of the assuring tests of returning prosperity on the turf is found in the largely increased number of nominations made to these stakes. Not only is the number of horses engaged the largest since 1894, but there is an increase in the number of different interests represented. The associations not only furnish the opportunity for the development of the racehorse, but, by the liberality in the stakes offered, make it possible for the breeder to seek the best blood.

"There is a gratifying increase in the amount of the State tax levied upon the gross receipts of the several racing associations. It is a pleasure to the commission to report this, as it recognizes the great benefit conferred upon our rural communities by the county and town fair associations which are the beneficiaries of the moneys thus raised. This increase in the tax necessarily follows an increased revenue to the racing associations, and while an increase in revenue does not necessarily imply any increase of net profits, it is most satisfactory in that it makes it possible for these associations to offer greater prizes for the contest, and thus not only make the horse more profitable in the market, but encourages liberal and intelligent expenditure on breeding farms. It is an indication, too, of the confidence of the public, for it is only through such confidence that patronage comes.

"In connection with the subject of this tax, however, your commission respectfully notes, not as a matter of contention with the state department having charge of the assessment and collection of this tax, but as one of justice, that there are differences between that department and the racing associations which ought not to exist. It would suggest that where receipts are only technically receipts, where by no possibility could they inure to the financial benefit of an association, they are not taxable. In cases in which they do form part of the revenues of an association, or where, as in some purse races, the entrance fees do not add to the total value of the purse, it is conceded that they are receipts, and, properly, are taxable.

"It is scarcely necessary here to say that your commission has not failed to impress upon all concerned in the sport that to retain the confidence of the public and to recognize that the real aim of racing is to improve the breed of horses are essentials that must never be lost sight of. It is not amiss, therefore, to refer to an organization formed last year by some owners, trainers and jockeys, and known as the Horsemen's Protective Association. Originally, it professed to be an organization formed largely for social purposes, and there were assurances that it would work harmoniously with the Jockey Club. So long as the organization adhered to its professed purposes it was not opposed or objected to by the Jockey Club. It had not, however, long been in existence before the conduct of certain of its members made it evident that so far as possible they intended that its social end should not be pursued at all, but that it should arrogate to itself powers of government, even to the extent of boycotting such racing associations as did not frame their programs according to a plan advocated by them.

"Apart from its by-laws, it was apparent in more ways than one that it was about to work in a manner not only independent of, but antagonistic to, the Jockey Club. Such a course would, of necessity, be subversive of all authority and opposed to the best interests of the turf.

"In speaking thus of the Horsemen's Protective Association your commission deems it but just to some men who entered into it early to say that they did not appreciate what were the secret purposes of certain of its members. So long as the association continued in its attitude and organization your commission had to be opposed to it, and must recommend to the Jockey Club such steps as will in this and similar cases render inoperative any act which might fairly be interpreted as hostile to the best interests of racing."

He's fit and was none too well ridden today. Go To Bed is not true. He was cut off in rounding both first and home bends, but closed strong. Terry was short. He likes a route and was cut off on the stretch turn. Watch him. Cripple and Ruth are fit. Both were outclassed. So was Metairie. Mercutio was shut off early and late. He can do better.

NOTES OF THE TURF.

The good California filly Sombre, out of Miss Woodford, is small, though game and quick to break. After Sombre had won her last race John Mackey said: "Sombre doesn't weigh much over 600 pounds, but she's a runner from the ground up; the best for her inches seen in these parts for some time." Of the filly, the Breeder and Sportsman says: "Sombre is surely the best two-year-old shown in California this season, and it's astonishing how the little black filly packs weight and wins."

Sid Reagan claimed Hohenzollern and Hermoso out of selling races at Ingleside eight days ago. Hohenzollern cost him $900 and Hermoso $1,075. At the price Hohenzollern was a very cheap horse. Both have been returned to Mr. Boots. Reagan did not act for himself.

Lightweight Jockey McNichols, in attempting to get through a very narrow opening at Ingleside a few days ago, was thrown off Duke of York II and had his collar bone fractured.

He needs strong handling, was cut off near start and on the stretch turn. So was Colonel Dan, who favors a route and ran as if nearly at his best. Sly and Spray ran their races. Cochran, badly ridden, ran as if ready and was eased near the end. Watch him. Distinction is a sprinter and was out-classed.
